COUNCIL QUARTERLY COMPETITION RESULTS

Next competition is in February.

WORKSHOPS, CLASSES AND ITEMS OF INTEREST:

WORLD WIDE PINHOLE DAY MAKE YOUR OWN CAMERA

World Wide Pinhole Day will be held on April 29, 2007. Last year over 2250 photographers from 60 countries uploaded images (1 per photographer) that they had made on that day to the WWPD website. Here in Denver, Working with Artists has a pinhole day event. Last year that included being able to use the darkroom at Silver Print for developing and printing images at no charge.

This year Jim Stewart will do a workshop on March 31 starting at 9 am at his house (16759 East Ada Pl.) for those who are interested in making their own pinhole camera. In the morning we will make pinholes and put them in body caps (bring your own) for use on film or digital cameras and make traditional pinhole cameras from tin boxes. In the afternoon we can convert either Holga 120N or Polaroid Colorpack 2 camera to pinhole. Again, if you want to do this, bring your own camera to convert. Call Jim 303 696-9635 or Mary Lou 303 751 2097 if you plan to attend or if you are interested in converting a Holga. If there is enough interest by the March 19th meeting we will try to get a group buy for the Holga cameras either locally or mail order.

CHINA IMPRESSIONS: Celebrating the Year of the Pig.

During the month of February at the Joan Duncan Galleries at Koelbel Library (sw corner of Holly and Orchard). Photography by Helen Tyler and Marilyn Clark.
(I know both and they do excellent work)
